Long Prison Term for Auto Thief

INSANE PRISONER BELIEVED RESPONSIBLE FOR DONORA FIRES

Auto Thief to Serve Long Term in Pen

Leonard Batch colored, of Monongahela City, arrested here for the theft of an automobile belonging to W. M. Chase of Monongahela, appeared before Judge J. A. McIlvaine in Washington yesterday and entered a plea of guilty to larceny. He claimed that he did not intend to keep the car, but only took the machine in order to give his friends in this city a ride. The court, however, was of the opinion that this is done too frequently and he was sentenced to pay the costs, a fine of $1 and to serve a term in the Western Penitentiary from two to ten years.

Batch had washed the car earlier in the day for the owner and the same evening took the machine while it was standing in front of the Chase residence. He came to this city and was awaiting several of his friends in front of the Star theatre when local officers, who had been notified of the theft, placed him under arrest and he was later taken back to Monongahela City, where he was given a preliminary hearing and held for court.

Town in Ruins

(By United Press)

Dublin Sept. 29--The once fashionable town of Mallow was dotted with charred ruins today--mementoes of prompt reprisals by police for noonday raids on their barracks there in which one officer was killed.

Two more violent deaths were reported from Belfast where police replied to firing from a street crowd. Several were wounded. Several small riots without fatalities were reported in various parts of the city.

Two thousand troops were enroute to Belfast today. The city now is in a turmoil with many factories closed and the idlers thus created adding to the troubles of police. Shipyards were among the industries disrupted.

The raid on police barracks in Mallow was regarded as one of the most successful Sinn Fein coups. Waiting until the barracks was lightly held, about noon, 100 or more Irish Republicans descended upon the place. One policeman was killed and the few remaining were forced to stand by while the Sinn Feiners erried away big stores of munitions and supplies.

No attempt was made to hunt down the raiders during the afternoon but in the evening fires broke out simultaneously in mills, the town hall, creamery, and several houses.

The fire brigade made no effort to fight the fires being restrained, officers said, by the curfew regulations. The charge of reprisals was made at once.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., Sept 29--Eight thousand miners of the Pennsylvania Coal company went out on strike this morning after having been at work but two days. They had previously been out on a strike for ten weeks and it was thought their grievances had been settled, but they refused to enter the mines this morning when James A. Joyce, a Pittston business man who was instrumental in having the men return to work told them that the coal company had failed to live up to their agreement. The men objected to the appearance of State Troopers about the entrance of the mines. All the colliers of the company in the Pittston district are idle today.

CLAUDE WILLIAMS OF CHICAGO BALL TEAM ADMITS PART IN WORLD SERIES SCANDAL

(By United Press)

Chicago, Sept. 29.---The third confession by which the White Sox players were indicted for alleged throwing of the 1919 World Series ball games to Cincinnati was announced by the court today. "Lefty" Williams, pitcher, told of his part in the alleged conspiracy to Assistant State Attorney Replogle, in charge of the investigation. Williams was named by Joe Jackson as the man who handed him the envelope with the bribe money. Williams was called before the jury shortly before noon today and named all the gamblers involved. Two additional ball players have been indicted, but other than to state that they were not members of he White Sox, Assistant State Attorney would not divulge their names. Several gamblers have already been indicted and with the confessions it is hoped that a general housecleaning will soon be in progress to rid the great National game of crooks and gamblers.

Chicago, Sept. 29---The Cook county grand jury, investigating crookedness in baseball, hit the gamblers' trail today.

After indicting eight members of the 1919 White Sox team for alleged throwing of the last world series to the Cincinnati Reds, the investigators went into the gamblers' part in the $100,000 plot.

Officials announced they had sufficient evidence, apparently from the "confessions" of Joe Jackson and Eddie Cicotte, White Sox stars, to obtain indictments of gamblers in New York, Chicago, Cincinnati, St. Louis, Detroit, Des Moines and other cities.

In addition the grand jury was prepared to take up alleged crooked playing in other games by Chicago teams. The Philadelphia - Chicago game in the National League of August 31 was especially under scrutiny.

Sheriff Peters announced the arrest of the men against whom indictments were voted would not be made until the indictments were formally returned. The grand jury was expected to return the indictments to the court during the day.

The greatest baseball machine in recent years was piled up by the gamblers as the result of the wreck caused by the indictments.

Charles A. Comiskey, owner of the Sox, has built many pennant winning machines in his twenty-five years in baseball, but always pointed to the present aggregation as the nearest perfection. The club has been virtually intact since winning the world's championship in 1918. Comiskey has insisted the team should have won the 1919 world series, claiming it was the best ball club and had every expectation of repeating victory this year.

"Kid" Gleason, manager, today began taking the few good parts from the battered contraption to present a front for the remaining ball games. He stoutly insisted the Sox were still in the running for the American League penant, and capable of a fight for the world's championship.

Gleason's pitching staff will be Faber, Kerr, Hodges and Wilkinson, with Schalk receiving. He intends shifting J. Collins to third, playing McMullan at shortt E. Collins at second, and Jourdan at first. His outfield would be Strunz, Murphy, Liebold, with Fals and Lynn as the only utility men.

Plans for the world series will not be changed, according to Ban Johnson and John Heydler, constituting the National Commission in charge of organized baseball. The arrangements for the world series had just been completed when the indictments were announced.

The heart of Chicago and the middle west today went out to Charles A. Comiskey, owner of the White Sox club. The Old Roman, whose name has stood for all that was clean and honest in baseball for years, was broken hearted over the scandal. He went into seclusion immediately after the report of the confession that the games had been "framed."

Probably no other baseball team in the country has the following the Sox have had. Many of the fans refused to believe the story of the confessions of the players.

The following [illegible] baseball fans from [illegible] to see the world's series. [illegible] the first game [illegible] Chicago [illegible] bench and the [illegible] in the [illegible] lunch.

Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis of the United States District court, was one of the leading White Sox fans. The judge adjourned court many a day when the Sox were in a tight race and playing at home, although he always gave some other reason for the suspension of judicial procedure.

When informed at his country home at Burt Lakes, Mich., by the United Press of the indictments, the judge refused to make a formal statement.

"My opinion of baseball gambling and crookedness in general is too well known and needs nothing in addition," he said. "I have no knowledge of the evidence on which these indictments are based and I don't want to talk about it until I have a chance to absorb the facts."

The penalty under the conspiracy act on which the indictments against the eight Sox players were voted, provides a fine up to $5,000 and imprisonment up to two years.

One question which was still undecided today was whether the Sox players "were on the square" during the hot contest this season. When they lost a string of games during the latter part of the season, and practically threw away their chance for the pennant this year, only rumors started.

Gamblers and bookmakers were known to have wagered huge sums of money that the Cleveland Indians would win this year's pennant in the American League.

Ban Johnson, president of the League, admitted he had heard rumors that the White Sox did not dare to win the pennant this year. The gamblers who had bet on Cleveland had the White Sox in their power through the crooked dealings a year ago, according to these rumors, and blackmailed them into losing. The gamblers are alleged to have threatened the White Sox players that if they did not lose they would expose the game in the 1919 series.

Cicotte, Sox star pitcher, failed miserably when called on in pinches this season. Manager Gleason even forced Cicotte to go several hours extra work and then put him on the bench for a rest on. Finally Gleason put Cicotte in his turn.

Demented Man is Held For Investigation

State, county and local officials are continuing their investigation of the mysterious fires which caused property damage estimated at $50,000 in Donora Monday night and early Tuesday morning, but with the exception of the arrest of Frank Karnan, a young demented foreigner at Webster, no further clues have been secured. Physicians who examined Karnan stated that he was subject to spasmodic attacks of insanity and Dr. Rupert of Webster also testified that he had examined the man over a year ago, when it was found that he was suffering from insanity. The man was arrested early yesterday morning crawling from under the Webster garage, which he admitted having set afire a few minutes before.

When taken to Donora he denied all knowledge of the fires in that community but later stated that since the police said he committed the crimes he supposed he was guilty. A State Deputy Fire Marshall will arrive in Donora today and take charge of the case and will make a complete investigation. it is likely the suspect will be taken to an insane asylum.

Six different alarms were sounded during the night for fires in the town and it has been learned that in addition a number of other fires had been started but were extinguished before they could gain any headway. About 2:30 in the morning fire was discovered in the old skating rink on Meldon avenue, but a brakeman on a yard engine saw the flames and extinguished the blaze without sending in an alarm. Two hours later a deserted shack along the railroad near West Columbia was found afire, but this, too, was extinguished by railroad men, before any serious damage was accomplished.

Forty members of the local fire department answered the alarm here when the call for assistance came from Donora and the residents of the neighboring town are loud in their praise of the work of the local fire fighters who remained on the scene until after midnight.

May Be Deported

Agents of the Department of Justice assisted by Federal attorneys are conducting investigations into the actions of two alleged Russian Bolsheviks arrested in Donora. The hearings are being held in Washington this week and damaging evidence has been presented against both the prisoners. John Sergarico, one of the men, was arrested on June 1st, while the other, Mike Chestiloff, was arrested August 2nd. When Chestiloff was arrested he had a suitcase filled with Russian literature, including the "Volna," a radical Russian magazine advocating the overthrow of the United States government. Witnesses yesterday testified that Sergarico had passed the radical literature in Ellsworth and Bentleyville.

Time is Limited

The attention of all ex-service men is called to the fact that they have only a few days more in which they may make application for their Victory Medal at their local recruiting station. Ex-soldiers are urged to take advantage of this opportunity to get their medals without having to send their discharge certificates away. The War Department has seen fit to send a representative to this station for a week or ten days and every man who is entitled to a medal should realize that it is only in his interest that such action has been taken. After this representative has left this station it will be necessary for you to send your discharge certificate to Pittsburgh, thereby involving a delay and a possible chance of misplacing your discharge certificate. Let's get together and see if every ex-soldier can't get his application in during these few days that are left. The next of kin of deceased soldiers are also urged to apply for the Victory Medal. The War Department is anxious for every ex-service man to have one of the medals. Applications will be received at the Army Recruiting Station, 556 Penner avenue between 9 a. m., and 8 p. m. Be sure to bring your original discharge certificate.

REPUBLICAN IN POLITICS

SHOULD RESPOND

The communication of Rev. A. J. Wigley in this paper yesterday should not only appeal to the emotions, but it should take hold of the purse strings. The late Miss Elizabeth Wilson, nurse and minister to the sick, gave up her life for the cause of humanity as willingly as did those who fought for the country. Her memory should be held as sacred as any and all those who die out of sacrifice for others. The community should cherish the memory of all who serve the public so willingly and so unselfishly.

Rev. Wigley knew this woman in her great work; both had ministered at the same bedside of affliction and had frequently seen the death messenger come to relieve the suffering. This same kind hearted, patient and loving person was known to the writer of this article and we join in the sentiments expressed in the observations of the pastor and trust that our community will rise generously to this cause and that it will not only care for this grave for all time but that it will also erect to her memory a suitable monument with an appropriate inscription engraved thereon, so that all may know that her great work in the cause of humanity was done in an appreciative community. People should respond generously.

OH, YOU MR. WHITE!

Chairman White of the Democratic party, takes Senator Harding to task because the Republican nominee, having charged that the present excessive high cost of living lies at the door of the Wilson administration, does not now attribute the recent fall in prices to the activities of the President and his associates.

If the Democrats are responsible for the high prices, why they are also responsible for the cent reductions, Mr. White holds.

Oh, you Mr. White! Aren't you the clever one, to have thought up such a splendid alibi for the Wilsons, the Palmers and those others who have been berating profiteers with their tongues and winking at them on the sly!

Who engineered the deal by which sugar prices were shot sky high?

Who limited the profits of the Northern wheat growers and let the Southern cotton producers rob the country.

Who told us not to buy coal, because, it would soon be cheaper, and then permitted the operators to jump the price at a time when the country's bins were empty?

Who let the people be victimized right and left by gougers and profiteers without lifting a hand, except to penalize a few retail dealers who were doing only in a little way what the big fellows were doing in a large way?

Why the Wilson administration as everybody knows.

And what did the Wilson administration do to cheapen the cost of cotton to the consumer, or to give us coal at reasonable figures?

Nothing, as everybody knows.

And having done nothing to reduce the cost of living, why should Senator Harding or anybody else attribute the present voluntary reductions of big producers, manufacturers and merchants to the beneficent ministrations of the President and his associates?

THE BUSINESS END OF IT

Appeals being made from the State Department of Forestry for co-operation of business men, workers in mills and factories, women and girls at home, boys and school children in building up a sentiment against forest fires is in reality one of the most important matters now before the State government. Pennsylvania a long long ago set a pace in forestry. Having given away its forests, it got very little in return and has now started out to assure water supply, if nothing else, by buying back the denuded land and reforesting it.

But there is another angle to this business proposition of making certain of water for a state that may contain over a dozen million people before we realize it. Pennsylvania used to be a great timber producing state, so much, in fact that the Susquehanna river was a highway down which floated incalculable amounts of lumber that entered into the buildings of cities and towns beyond the Commonwealth's borders. Pennsylvania's counties supplied distant states with material for homes. And now this state is importing the lumber for its needs.

Neither coal nor cement rock is inexhaustible. From mankind's early days Providence has furnished trees and replenished the wood supply. Two things have contributed to shortage—waste and fire. Public policy and good business should go hand in hand to prevent them in Pennsylvania forests not only during the days of conservation and replanting upon which we have embarked, but in future.

LACK OF CONFIDENCE

Trade reports emphasize the idea that business is being halted as the result of lack of confidence. The level wholesale prices has dropped about 14 per cent. Buyers are fearful that the decline is not ended and they hesitate to stock up heavily.

This feeling of uncertainty is quite likely to be overdone. There is little overproduction of merchandise. There is a great deal of money in circulation and consumption is heavy. As soon as the people begin to renew supplies, many stocks must be exhausted.

These are times when merchants naturally run along with as small a stock as possible. By keeping up their advertising, they can clean up quickly, and not have to sacrifice heavily in case the decline will continue. Quick sales and small profits should be the motto for these times.

Women candidates so far nominated express confidence in being able to get elected without having to pass out many boxes of big black cigars.

Play Ground in Tiers.

The first municipal play ground of Czecho-Slovakia, in Prague, occupies a high hill which is terraced off, supplying space at the top for tennis courts and ball grounds; on a lower terrace a pavilion, band stand and open-air theater, on a still lower tier a running track, and farther down the children's grounds, with sand pile, wading pool and swings. In this latter section there are pavilions where mothers can sit and rest or sew as they watch the children. This first play ground for children is a cooperative effort of the Czech government and the American "Y" which will eventually be entirely under government management. At present the city has supplied the place, the Y. M. C. A. is paying for the equipment and the Y. W. C. A. has given the leadership. Charts for smaller play places for other parts of the city are being prepared.

HAS NO PAIN NOW

What Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Did for Mrs. Warner.

Onalaska, Wis.—"Every month I had such pains in my back and lower part of stomach I could not lie in bed. I suffered so it seemed as though I would die, and I was not regular either. I suffered for a year and was unfit to do my housework, could only wash dishes once in a while. I read an advertisement of what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had done for other women and decided to try it. It surely did wonders for me. I have no pains now and I can do my housework without any trouble at all. I will always praise your medicine as I do not believe there is a doctor that can do as much good in female weakness, and you may use these facts as a testimonial."—Mrs. LESTER E. WARNER, 1018 Pine St., La Crosse, Wis.

The reason women write such letters to the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. and tell their friends how they are helped is that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has brought health and happiness into their lives. Freed from their illness they want to pass the good news along to other suffering women that they also may be relieved.

Food Prices Reduced

Washington, Sept. 28.—Wholesale prices of fruit and vegetables, as well as prices paid to producer, are going down, according to a statement by the department of agriculture. Producers of the leading fruit and vegetable crops are in many cases getting such low prices they are actually losing money, the department said.

The reason for the decline in prices is abundance, practically all crops being larger than those last year. Another reason is the downward trend of many commodities which has manifested itself in the last few days.

That the price drop should be permanent rather than temporary is shown in the department's statement that there should be a surplus equal to the most active demand that can be developed. This means there can be no legitimate excuse that the law of supply and demand is forcing up prices.

The department gave figures for the leading crops in comparison with the same crops last year. The potato crop is 17 per cent larger, the cabbage crop 66 per cent, pears 15 per cent and apples 30 per cent.

Even though growers of many of these crops are attempting to hold them for higher prices the prices have gone down. Potato growers are receiving from 70 cents to $1 a barrel. Onions have dropped to near pre-war prices and cabbage is bringing from $7 to $9 a ton.

The difficulty that department of agriculture officials see now is that the abundant crops may go to waste because of lack of storage and that the public will thus be prevented from getting the benefit of decreased prices. To meet this possibility the department has urged housekeepers to buy for winter storage.

BELL-ANS FOR INDIGESTION

Died

On Monday, Sept. 27th, at 4:10 p. m., at the home of her mother, Mrs. Negley Anderson, occurred the death from a complication of diseases, of Mrs. Mary Clonan Burken, aged 28 years.

Mrs. Burken was united in marriage to W. L. Burken in 1918, Mr. Burken leaving shortly afterwards to serve his country for twelve months in the World War. After his return they moved to Cleveland and resided there about a year, during which time the deceased became ill and was brought to the home of her mother, in Monongahela, where she has since resided.

During Mrs. Burken's illness, whose suffering was intense at times her wonderfully bright and sunny disposition never failed her. Until the last, she maintained her beautiful smile.

Deceased was a member of the Methodist Episcopal church and when health permitted was active in its work. She is survived by her mother, her husband and two brothers. James Clonan of Cleveland and Joseph C. of Monessen.

The funeral will take place this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock from the late home with interment in the Monongahela cemetery.

Chicago Player Admits Part In Scandal

stant wrangling among the Sox during the year and the wonder was that they were able to keep in the penant race, even if they were playing on the square.

Just before the recent "crucial" series with the New York Yankees one of the White Sox players who was on the square, was interviewed by a United Press Staff correspondent.

"Who are you going to pitch tomorrow," the correspondent asked.

"Cicotte," was the answer "and if he desn't win, we will mob him on the field."

Cicotte pitched and he won the game.

Claude Williams, White Sox pitcher, was expected to be called by the jury today. Williams denied all knowledge of the alleged plot in interviews. Williams was to be questioned regarding alleged crookedness iin the Pacific Coast League, where he formerly played.

Jackson said he decided to tell his story when he received a letter threatening to "bump him off" unless he confessed.

"I heard that Cicotte had confessed," Jackson said, "and decided that those birds couldn't put anything over on me. I wanted to be in on the ground floor when the squawking came."

"Shoeless" Joe said he lost his nerve the first time he called up Judge McDonald.

"I just told him I was on the square," Jackson said.

"He said, 'You are not,' and hung up the receiver.

Then I went over to his room and started to tell him my story, as I figured they had the goods on me. I told him I got $5,000 of the $20,000 promised me. It was handed me by Lefty Williams in a dirty envelope. Judge McDonald said he didn't care whatI got. He said that if I had got what he thought I ought to have for crabbing the game of kids, I would not be telling him my story."

Jackson said he "climbed Risberg and McMullin" about the $15,000 which he claimed was still coming to him.

"They told me, 'You poor simp, go ahead and squawk. We will say you are a liar and then where do you get off? You are out of luck. Some of the boys were promised a lot more than you and got a lot less."

Jackson said the third game of the world series, which the White Sox won, was not on the square. He said the alleged crooked players did everything they could do lose it but Dickey Kerr, the pitcher, won in spite of their efforts.

Jackson said he wasn't going to get far from his protector until the affair was cleaned up.

"One of them threatened to kill me if I squawked," he said. "That's why I had all the bailiffs with me when I went to the grand jury room. I am not under arrest yet, and I've got an idea, after what I told them, that Joe Jackson isn't going to jail."

Jackson was among ten big league baseball players who was censured for running to the shipyards during the war.

Federal investigation was expected to be started today to determine whether the players who received bribe money failed to list them in their income tax returns.

The "squared" players of the White Sox will a celebration at the apartments of Eddie Collins, second baseman, last night.

THE AMERICAN RED CROSS IN PEACE TIME

Eastern Europe

DUKE OF ALBA WEDS IN LONDON

(By United Press)

London, Sept. 28.---One of the most important Spanish alliances for many years was consummated here today when the Duke of Alba was married to the Marquesa San Vincente del Barco, only daughter of the Duke and Duchess of Aliaga and the granddaughter of the Duke of Tarifa.

The ceremony which took place at the handsome Spanish Embassy on Grosvenor Gardens, was strictly private, owing to the bridegroom being in mourning for his aunt, the late ex-Empress Eugenie. Ambassador Merry del Val, represented King Alfonso, and acted as one of the "sponsers" usual in Spanish marriages of high rank, while the Duchess of Santona, sister of the bridegroom, was the other sponser.

The Duke of Alba is well known and popular in England as a sportsman. The guests included the Duke and Duchess of Aliaga, the Duke of Penaranda, the Duke and Duchess of Almazan, the Duke and Duchess of Montellano and Madam Merry del Val, wife of the Spanish Ambassador.

The Duke of Alba also possesses the British title of Duke of Berwick (but has no seat in the House of Lords) and is very wealthy. The bride, who is a grandee of Spain in her own right traces her descent from the dumRdipersons CMFWY one of the oldest in Spain.

India's Millions Facing Starvation

(By United Press)

New York, Sept. 29. Forty-five years service in India has not revealed such distressing economic conditions as exists there today according to a statement embodied in the 106th annual report of the American Baptist Foreign Missionary Society, now being printed here.

W. L. Ferguson, D.D., South India, sums up the situation as follows:

"The aftermath of the great war has been upon us, manifesting itself in various ways. General unrest among the people, political agitations such as India has not known for centuries, if ever; commercial disorganization due to shipping difficulties, unsettled exchange and other causes strikes, labor disputes and lockouts; prices high, higher, ever higher, exceeding what were formerly considered famine rates; pestilence, diseases and death; much distress and deep poverty among the masses, and great fortune and prosperity among the few; shortage of rains and crime rampant everywhere; higher wages for laborers and most salaried people, but increased earning much below the advance in the cost of living. India as a whole using paper currency and nickel coinage increasingly, silver and gold having gone into hoarding or export.

"Last July in all India there were a million and a quarter persons on relief work or receiving free famine aid The price of food stuffs trebled and quadrupled. Exportations of grain, insufficient rain, influenza and profiteering were added to war as fundamental causes of the economic extremity. The government estimates a shortage of food this year due to a decrease in acreage cultviated and poor crops.

"Conditions in South India have equalled the worst ever known to the inhabitants of this poverty stricken country. Our mission stations, besieged day and night by throngs of hungry people crying for food, were able to offer but slight aid, the need was so great. Men and women, through sheer weakness, staggered about like drunken people. Suffering was also intensified through lack of drinking water and an epidemic of the cholera took great tolls of human life. For months over a hundred children without food or clothing were fed and sheltered at the Baptist compound at Sooriapett. Famine camps set up by the government often feed as many as five thousand at a time. Historic old shade trees along the military road from Madras to Hyderabad for a distance of forty miles were stripped of all foliage to provide fodder for the cattle."

Reformatory Now Assumes Attitude of "Prep" School

Pittsburgh, Sept. 28.—Morganza, Allegheny county's reformatory, once a single institutional building, heavily locked and barred and classed as a prison, has assumed the aspect of a "prep" school where over 700 boys and girls from broken and destitute Pennsylvania homes are found without guard or a locked door.

The juveniles live in widely separated cottages now, with every house keeping and lavatory convenience. Each cottage is occupied by about 50 persons. A gymnasium and swimming pool occupy one of the large main buildings. The school buildings are commodious and typical of city schools. The trade instructors are practical workmen and many boys are capable after this training, of taking up their trade after they leave. Each boy and girl is given a manual task and vocational training each day. Everyone of the 400 boys at the institution is given instruction in military drill. Uniformed baseball and football teams help to keep the boys interested in their training.

"The school is the best of its kind in the country," said Judge Ben. F. Lindsay, of Denver, after spending three days at the institution.

"We haven't a surly boy or girl here," says Superintendent William Penn. "By being square and fair with the boys and girls we attain our end. We endeavor to develop a sense of responsibility by impressing each one that he has a business of his own in assuming charge of his or her own career."

Cure for Leprosy

(By United Press)

Honolulu, T. H. (By Mail.)—Apparent success in the treatment of chronic leprosy with chaulmooga oil has led to an announcement that the work will be extended to the Kalaupapa, T. H., leper settlement.

Thirty-six patients, recently treated at the receiving station here, have been paroled, the doctors believing them cured of the heretofore supposedly incurable disease. Under the terms of their parole they will be kept under close observation for one year.

At the Kalaupapa settlement 50 patients will be selected to receive the treatment first and eventually it will be extended until the remaining 550 lepers in the colony have been treated.

Dr. A. L. Dean of the University of Hawii assisted by Drs. J. T. McDonald and H. T. Hollman prepared the formula for the chaulmoogra treatment

Wedding Postponed By Emperor's Illness

(By United Press)

Tokyo, (By Mail.)—While an official statement has just been given out to the effect that the emperor's health has improved very considerably as a result of his stay at his summer villa at Nikko, evidence of the fact that no great hope is entertained that His Majesty will recover sufficiently to allow him to carry on ordinary functions of state is given in the statement that the wedding of the crown prince has been moved forward by one year, so that it will take place in April or May of next year.

The reason for this decision is given as being based on the circumstance that the young man is called upon to undertake many important state ceremonies and duties, including the reception and representatives of foreign powers and other official functions.

Crown Prince Hirohito was born on April 29, 1901, and he will be about twenty years old at the time of his wedding. The engagement was announced on June 16, 1919. Princess Nagako Kuni, the future empress of Japan, was born on Mar. 6, 1903.

DUKE OF ALBA WEDS IN LONDON

(By United Press)

London, Sept. 28.—One of the most important Spanish alliances for many years was consummated here today when the Duke of Alba was married to the Marquesa San Vincente del Barco, only daughter of the Duke and Duchess of Alhaga and the granddaughter of the Duke of Tarifa.

The ceremony which took place at the handsome Spanish Embassy on Grosvenor Gardens, was strictly private, owing to the bridegroom being in mourning for his aunt, the late ex-Empress Eugenie. Ambassador Merry del Val, represented King Alfonso, and acted as one of the "sponsers" usual in Spanish marriages of high rank, while the Duchess of Santona, sister of the bridegroom, was the other sponser.

The Duke of Alba is well known and popular in England as a sportsman. The guests included the Duke and Duchess of Alhaga, the Duke of Penaranda, the Duke and Duchess of Almazan, the Duke and Duchess of Montellano and Madam Merry del Val, wife of the Spanish Ambassador.

The Duke of Alba also possesses the British title of Duke of Berwick (but has no seat in the House of Lords) and is very wealthy. The bride, who is a grandee of Spain in her own right traces her descent from the dumRd!persons CMFWY one of the oldest in Spain.

India's Millions Facing Starvation

(By United Press)

New York, Sept. 29.—Forty-five years service in India has not revealed such distressing economic conditions as exists there today according to a statement embodied in the 106th annual report of the American Baptist Foreign Missionary Society, now being printed here.

W. L. Ferguson, D.D., South India, sums up the situation as follows:

"The aftermath of the great war has been upon us, manifesting itself in various ways. General unrest among the people, political agitations such as India has not known for centuries, if ever; commercial disorganization due to shipping difficulties, unsettled exchange and other causes; strikes, labor disputes and lockouts; prices high, higher, ever higher, exceeding what were formerly considered famine rates; pestilence, diseases and death; much distress and deep poverty among the masses, and great fortune and prosperity among the few; shortage of crops and crime rampant everywhere; higher wages for laborers and most salaried people, but increased earning much below the advance in the cost of living. India as a whole using paper currency and nickel coinage increasingly, silver and gold having gone into hoarding or export.

"Last July in all India there were a million and a quarter persons on relief work or receiving free famine aid The price of food stuffs trebled and quadrupled. Exportations of grain, insufficient rain, influenza and profiteering were added to war as fundamental causes of the economic extremity. The government estimates a shortage of food this year due to a decrease in acreage cultviated and poor crops.

"Conditions in South India have equalled the worst ever known to the inhabitants of this poverty stricken country. Our mission stations, beseiged day and night by throngs of hungry people crying for food, were able to offer but slight aid, the need was so great. Men and women, through sheer weakness, staggered about like drunken people. Suffering was also intensified through lack of drinking water and an epidemic of the cholera took great tolls of human life. For months over a hundred children without food or clothing were fed and sheltered at the Baptist compound at Sooriapett. Famine camps set up by the government often feed as many as five thousand at a time. Historic old shade trees along the military road from Madras to Hyderabad for a distance of forty miles were stripped of all foliage to provide feeder for the cattle."

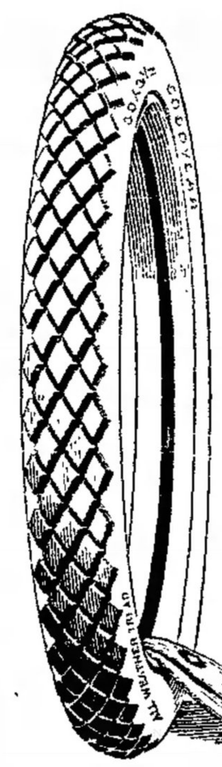
The Reduced Cost of Tire Mileage for Your Small Car



Do you realize that Goodyear Tires are priced no higher today than in 1910 and that their mileage actually costs less than it did a decade ago?

During this period Goodyear has been able steadily to increase the amount of mileage built into its tires and, consequently, the cost of Goodyear mileage has actually declined.

In no part of the Goodyear line has this decline been more marked than in the present 30 x 3-, 30 x 3½- and 31 x 4-inch sizes of Goodyear Tires, made especially for small cars.

If you own a Ford, Chevrolet, Dort, Maxwell or other car taking these sizes, go to your nearest Service Station for them—get the unusual value contained in their construction and delivered in their mileage.

30 x 3½ Goodyear Double-Cure Fabric, All-Weather Tread $23.50

30 x 3½ Goodyear Single-Cure Fabric, Anti-Skid Tread $21.50

Goodyear Heavy Tourist Tubes cost no more than the price you are asked to pay for tubes of less merit—why risk costly casings when such sure protection is available? 30x3½ size in waterproof bag $4.50

Reformatory Now Assumes Attitude of "Prep" School

Pittsburgh, Sept. 28.—Morganza, Allegheny county's reformatory, once a single institutional building, heavily locked and barred and classed as a prison, has assumed the aspect of a "prep" school where over 700 boys and girls from broken and destitute Pennsylvania homes are found without guard or a locked door.

The juveniles live in widely separated cottages now, with every house keeping and lavatory convenience Each cottage is occupied by about 50 persons. A gymnasium and swimming pool occupy one of the large main buildings. The school buildings are commodious and typical of city schools. The trade instructors are practical workmen and many boys are capable after this training, of taking up their trade after they leave. Each boy and girl is given a manual task and vocational training each day. Everyone of the 400 boys at the institution is given instruction in military drill. Uniformed baseball and football teams help to keep the boys interested in their training.

"The school is the best of its kind in the country," said Judge Ben F. Lindsay, of Denver, after spending three days at the institution.

"We haven't a surly boy or girl here," says Superintendent William Penn. "By being square and fair with the boys and girls we attain our end. We endeavor to develop a sense of responsibility by impressing each one that he has a business of his own in assuming charge of his or her own career."

John B's Ghost Active

Cure for Leprosy

(By United Press)

Honolulu, T. H. (By Mail.)—Apparent success in the treatment of chronic leprosy with chaulmooga oil has led to an announcement that the work will be extended to the Kallaupapa, T. H., leper settlement.

Thirty-six patents, recently treated at the receiving station here, have been paroled, the doctors believing them cured of the heretofore supposedly incurable disease. Under the terms of their parole they will be kept under close observation for one year.

At the Kalaupapa settlement 50 patients will be selected to receive the treatment first and eventually it will be extended until the remaining 550 lepers in the colony have been treated.

Dr. A. L. Dean of the University of Hawii assisted by Drs. J. T. McDonald and H. T. Hellman prepared the formula for the chaulmoogra treatment.

Wedding Postponed By Emperor's Illness

(By United Press)

Tokyo, (By Mail.)—While an official statement has just been given out to the effect that the emperor's health has improved very considerably as a result of his stay at his summer villa at Nikko, evidence of the fact that no great hope is entertained that His Majesty will recover sufficiently to allow him to carry on ordinary functions of state is given in the statement that the wedding of the crown prince has been moved forward by one year, so that it will take place in April or May of next year.

The reason for this decision is given as being based on the circumstance that the young man is called upon to undertake many important state ceremonies and duties, including the reception and representatives of foreign powers and other official functions.

Crown Prince Hirohito was born on April 29, 1901, and he will be about twenty years old at the time of his wedding. The engagement was announced on June 10, 1919. Princess Nagako Kuni, the future empress of Japan, was born on Mar 6, 1903.

"I Want Something Good"

That about sums up the average man's clothing preferences. He has no preconceived notions as to style, and, in many cases, as to price.

He may have special leaning towards one color or another—and he may have his particular objection to one or two colors. But, outside of that, he wants "something good."

So, when we sell a man—we make it a point, without telling us, of giving him clothes that insure satisfaction. Just the kind of cut and drape to suit his peculiar "style of beauty."

To Observe Fire Prevention Day

Harrisburg, Sept 29—Fire Prevention Day will be observed throughout Pennsylvania on Saturday, October 9 The campaign to "Make Pennsylvania Fireproof" that is being waged by Major C M Wilhelm chief of the Bureau of Fire Protection, of the Department of State Police, will be given additional emphasis on that occasion

In an effort to arouse the public to the magnitude of fire waste in this state and induce them to take more interest in the subject of fire prevention, the Bureau of Fire Protection has arranged a special program for the day. Property owners and tenants are urged to make examination of the premises with the view of removing and properly disposing of waste accumulations, and immediately arranging for the correction of fire hazards

Short talks by employers on the subject of fire prevention and protection are advocated by the Bureau officials It is also suggested that fire drills be observed in institutions, factories and other establishments Inspections of fire departments is among the activities set forth in the program for the day.

School children will have the lesson of fire prevention impressed upon them on the previous day Brief talks will be given them on the subject, they will be asked to write essays and will also participate in fire drills.
